Introduction

Confucian merchants, that is, the combination of Confucianism and Shang, not only have Confucian morality and intelligence, but also business excellence and success. For more than two thousand years, Confucianism, which has been spreading for a long time, has influenced the Chinese people's thinking and formed their unique behavior and mode of thinking. Chinese Confucian business culture has been advocating harmony and wealth, win-win business philosophy, can be said, this is a very long-term vision and sustainable development of the enterprise wisdom. Confucianism contains the rich wisdom of our sages in exploring the true meaning of the universe, society and life. The ancients said that "morality, utilization and good health" are three things, and the latter two are not the advantages of Confucianism. Engaged in Economic activities are not simply to make money or earn a living, but an art of management, which is to create and form a culture. The concept of the spirit of Confucian merchants refers to the unique corporate personality and code of conduct formed by the aid of Confucian businessmen. The so-called Confucian merchants mean that as businessmen, they should have the spirit of Confucianism, the magnanimity of Confucianism, and the moral norms of Confucianism. Taking the Confucian moral ideal and moral pursuit as the criterion to engage in business and do business, it permeates the "benevolence, righteousness, propriety, wisdom and faith" advocated and practiced by Confucianism in its enterprise behavior. Confucian merchants' culture is one The philosophy of "honesty", "mean", "benevolence", "Lire", "talent" and "win-win" is emphasized. Wisdom and knowledge, virtue and integrity, the responsibility to repay the society, from Zigong, we saw the earliest Confucian business style, but also the true spirit of Confucian merchants. Zigong's business activities, with its high intellectual, noble moral, high sense of social responsibility, created the first Chinese Confucian culture, no doubt called the first Chinese Confucian businessman.

Nearly 100 years, because of the rapid development of science and technology, and driven by information, transportation. The rapid progress of et al not only reduces the space distance of people, accelerates the speed and frequency of communication, but also accelerates the pace of people's life. At this time, it not only inspires the consciousness of "solidarity" in global affairs, but also breaks through the limitation of the boundary barrier of the past gradually in the face of all kinds of problems. The trend of "global" (Globalization) has become an irresistible trend. In such an era of rapid progress, international competition is growing To become fierce. Industry and commerce, whether in product R & D, design, operation strategy, and even, enterprise organization and management model. At the same level, they must be able to show their broad "vision", pay attention to the "pulsation" of international development at any time, and then draw from the strengths of people in order to make up for their shortcomings and make the development of their own enterprises a global benchmark. The disparity between the rich and the poor on our planet is growing more and more. If the people with money and power have no culture to bear, without a sense of responsibility for the progress of mankind, the earth will not have peace and prosperity. It can be said that advocating the Confucian spirit among businessmen is a great cause for businessmen to gradually have "cultural responsibility". An objective requirement of progressive business ethics. We emphasize the modern value of the Confucian merchants' spirit and emphasize that we should serve the real economic development by carrying forward the Confucian merchants' spirit.

What else is the Confucian spirit?

We can understand it by the way of being regarded as the representative of Confucian businessmen in Chinese history. Business is the key to gaining market access; to make business prosperous as a way of "peace", they are all businessmen and not their own interests, but business but to enrich the people and strengthen the country, social stability as their own responsibility, are in the process of business to realize their own value in life.

The theoretical significance and practical significance of the correspondence path between Confucian businessman culture and corporate culture

Confucian merchants' culture advocates economic development based on morality, which is a "double-edged sword". It not only restricts the Confucian merchants' own honest management, but also enhances the reputation of Confucian merchants and reduces the costs and risks of social transactions. Promote the prosperity of enterprises and economic development. The 21st century is the era of cultural management, is the era of cultural enrichment. The importance of corporate culture will be the core competitiveness of enterprises and the most important content of enterprise management. The importance of corporate culture has its own culture, in order to make the enterprise have the vitality of life, the symbol of real personality, the survival, development and development of the enterprise. Strengthen, serve the foundation for the whole society. In China and the world economic arena, the protagonist of the cultural war will be a large number of Confucian businessmen. The way to realize the modern management of Confucian culture is especially important. Especially, it is of great practical significance to combine Confucian culture with modern enterprise management culture and find a new way to realize it.

The necessity of the combination of Confucian and Corporate Culture

In the face of increasingly fierce market competition, the need to continue to deal with the challenges from home and abroad. In order to carry out the enterprise management effectively and maintain the sustainable development of the enterprise, it is necessary to realize the effective integration between the Confucian culture and the enterprise culture, and to achieve symbiosis and two-way interaction. As an enterprise manager, it has become an important way for enterprises to improve their core competitiveness by deeply analyzing the relationship between management system and corporate culture and correctly handling the relationship between them. Corporate culture covers the material culture, behavior culture, institutional culture and spiritual culture of the enterprise, whether it is the external performance of the enterprise, or the internal spirit. Is a component of corporate culture.

Deficiency and existing problems in the study of Confucian Culture at pres

The ideological confusion caused by the coexistence of Confucianism and Western thought is mainly manifested in the opposite thinking: the antithesis between tradition and modernity, between reason and belief, and between individual and group. Contrast instrumental rationality with value rationality. Due to the one-sided emphasis on instrumental rationality, positivism was later popular, and positivism led to the scientific trend of blindly worshipping instrumental rationality. As a result of one-sided derogation of value rationality, the damage of humanistic spirit, the distortion and alienation of personality, the formation of "unidirectional people", which leads to the loss of the world of meaning and the world of spirit. Because of the one-sided emphasis on the role of the individual The emphasis on the competition between people leads to the popularity of individualism and the serious antagonism between individuals and groups, which damages the mutual aid and harmony of social groups. Therefore, the western modernity can not but be manifested as the reverse of the two laws: on the one hand, it promotes the process of modernization, on the other hand, it leads to the prevalence of "modern diseases". The overwhelming new things also symbolize the advent of the so-called "knowledge economy" (Knowledge Economy) era. In order to make our economy develop healthily and orderly, business management must advocate the spirit of Confucian businessmen, and must advocate progressive business ethics, otherwise, Our economy is unlikely to be healthy and orderly. Sustained and stable development. As entrepreneurs and scholars, how can we not embrace the thinking of "looking ahead", grasp the pulsation and development trend of the times at any time, step by step, and let enterprises "keep pace with the times". In the aspect of the matching path between Confucian culture and enterprise culture, the research results of the method and path of guiding practice are urgent and lack of innovative research results.

These are the most basic qualities that modern Confucian merchants must possess, but not all of them.
