

Analysis and Research on Modernization and New Development Trend of Economic Management

Huiwen Tan

Sinounited Investment Group Corporation Limited Postdoctoral Programme, Beijing, 102200, China

Keywords: economic management, Modernization, Development trend

Abstract: In recent years, with continuous development of China's economy, there is a trend of modern development in economic management, such as management, ideological management methods and other aspects. China's economic form puts forward extremely strict requirements for economic management. We must attach importance to economic management and grasp its development trend in order to promote economic development. Today's society pays more and more attention to the development of economic management modernization. This paper mainly discusses and analyzes the manifestation and new development trend of economic management modernization from the relationship between economic management and economic management modernization.

1. Introduction

Economic management is mainly to guide, regulate and supervise economic activities, and make good arrangement of economic activities. With the continuous development of social level, economic management is also in constant development and improvement. The modernization of economic management is formed with the development of the economic era, which needs more excellent management organizations, advanced management concepts and management means to participate in economic management and promote its development towards modernization.

2. The Relationship between Economic Management and Economic Management Modernization

2.1 Concept of Economic Management

Economic management is a kind of behavior of managing economy, which is a comprehensive management discipline. Through economic management can help enterprises to achieve better modern management. The development of social economy depends on economic management. Therefore, it also occupies a vital position in social economy.

2.2 Concept of Economic Management Modernization

The modern organization of economic management is to make economic management better serve the society. Therefore, it is necessary to closely keep up with the trend of social development, update the economic management mode, management ideas, management means and so on in time. To make it develop towards modernization, meet the needs of social and economic development, and better serve society.

2.3 Relationship between Economic Management and Modernization

In recent years, China's economy developed rapidly, which also promoted the development of economic management modernization. It has many random characteristics, such as humanization and networking and so on. At the same time, it has become one of the issues that Chinese people are increasingly concerned about. The modernization of economic management is also developing rapidly. It not only ensures the development of social economy, but also becomes the core of China's economic development [1]. From this point of view, the relationship between economic management and modernization is extremely close, and the economic management modernization will definitely become the inevitable trend of economic development.

3. The Manifestation of Economic Management Modernization

3.1 Specialization and Democratization of Economic Management Modernization

The modernization of economic management puts forward higher requirements for management means and concepts, etc. As a manager, we must improve our professional skills in order to better carry out economic management. Therefore, economic management modernization presents a professional form. It requires professional staff to improve their mastery of professional knowledge, including learning the legal provisions, policies, human resource management, financial management and so on, which involved in economic management. Only in this way can we develop efficient work in the new era. With the continuous development of economic management, work will be democratized, and democratic measures will be adopted for voting in the new era. It cannot only closely keep up with the pace of social development, but also help enterprises to carry out efficient management [2].

3.2 Initiative and Creativity of Economic Management Modernization

The initiative and creativity of economic management modernization are mainly reflected in management means and concepts. Don't blindly copy some of the previous means and methods to carry out management work, limiting the development of economic management modernization. We should make full use of the existing human and material resources and so on to integrate, define the development goals, spread the innovative consciousness and innovative thinking, and strive to implement new management methods to achieve desired results. Especially in the development of economic management modernization, the initiative and creativity of management can infinitely stimulate the potential of managers and achieve good management results.

3.3 Scientific and Automatic Modernization of Economic Management

Information technology plays a very important role with its continuous development and its application in various fields. It is no exception in the development of economic management modernization. The implementation of economic management modernization cannot be separated from the support of science and technology. Whether it's computer network or some information software, it can both help economic management to carry out efficient management, obtain the latest data and information, and improve work efficiency. Therefore, with the continuous development of society, the modernization of economic management will continue to improve and consummate, showing a scientific and automated form.

4. The New Trend of Economic Management Modernization

4.1 Humanized Management Thinking

In the process of development, economic management has been changing according to the needs of economic activities. It pays too much attention to economic benefits and ignores staff. With the continuous development of social economy, the development trend of economic management modernization is bound to develop towards humanized management thinking and concept. To change the inequality of management methods in the past economic management, and pay attention to people-oriented. Human is the essence of production. Thus, in the development of economic management modernization, human is an important force to support its development. Therefore, in economic management, we should pay attention to and adhere to the concept and principle of people-oriented. On the basis of humanization, a management system is formulated to meet corresponding needs. It can stimulate the enthusiasm of staff, tap their potential, make them devote themselves to work so that they can play a greater value creation, and achieve the expected goal of economic management[3]. This new trend can effectively make up for the shortcomings of traditional management model. It not only paves the way for economic management modernization development, but also improves economic benefits of enterprises and organizations to promotes their long-term development.

4.2 Customer Oriented

In traditional economic management, technology is emphasized, economic management mode and economic management system are relatively backward. In face of new market economic environment, the lack of advantages leads to less competition and the loss of market combat effectiveness. In response to this situation, the modern development of economic management should pay attention to customer oriented, change the form of economic market, from the seller's market to the buyer's market, and from customer to lead the competition between enterprise organizations. Focus on the needs of customers. In the economic management work, it can be carried out according to the development of the buyer's market to create the maximum economic benefits for enterprises and organizations.

4.3 Democratic Management Method

In traditional way of economic management method, we pay attention to centralization of power, rarely see the democratic way of management. However, in order to keep pace with the development of times and meet the needs of social economy, we should achieve the democratic management method in the development trend of economic management modernization to improve managerial effectiveness. The democratic management method changes centralization to decentralization, avoids some corruption and bribery, and also realizes the transparency of relationship between leadership and staff[4]. We should attract more talents to participate in economic management and give full play to their creativity. Optimize human resources, integrate more knowledge and experience to make adequate preparation for the development of economic management. Enterprises and organizations will adopt democratic management for personnel appointment, and the people will decide whether they are competent. This cannot only effectively implement people-oriented management concept, but also give full scope to talents and achieve the core value of enterprise.

4.4 Cultivation and Development of Team Spirit

The cultivation and development of team spirit is a major feature of the development trend of economic management modernization. Team spirit is an important factor in the relationship between business organization and personnel, and also a key to its rapid development. In the new era, if enterprises want to achieve rapid development, they need to pay attention to the cultivation of team work spirit, absorb more talents, optimize the allocation of human resources. In order to create greater value, carry out team cooperation to realize economic management modernization and achieve the development goal of enterprise's organization[5].

4.5 Innovation of Communication Method

Information technology is constantly developing. The application of information technology in economic management is bound to promote its innovation and development. Therefore, in the new era, network communication method will also become a major feature of economic management modernization. Using information technology to build an internal system can realize internal contact between enterprises and grassroots personnel, quickly resource sharing and information transmission and so on. At the same time, the network can also obtain various information of market economy in the fastest time. Then according to market development, we adjust the way of economic management, find out the problems in time, and solve them quickly to improve work efficiency. Network communication is not only conducive to internal communication, but also makes information more widely and quickly spread [6].

5. Conclusion

All in all, with the continuous development of society, economic management modernization has become the trend. It will be improved and developed according to the continuous improvement of China's economic market. To achieve the development of economic management modernization, we need to start with management mode, management thinking, management means, management methods and other aspects, make continuous improvement and innovation, and integrate into some characteristics of the development of times, so that the development of economic management modernization closely follows the pace of social development. In the new era, we should pay attention to promote the economic management modernization. It includes having enough innovation consciousness and ability, and paying attention to people-oriented development concept. We should gradually achieve economic management modernization, obtain more economic benefits for enterprises and organizations, and promote the sustainable prosperity development of social economy in China.

References

- [1] Wang Jun(2015). on Modernization of Economic Management and Development Trend of Economic Management. Science and Technology Economic Market, No.9, pp. 58-59.
- [2] Ma Jia(2019). On the Modernization of Economic Management and the New Trend of Economic Management Development. Knowledge Economy, No.22, pp.9-10.
- [3] Zhao Haigang(2019). Modernization of Economic Management and New Trend of Economic Management Development. New Business Weekly, No.21, pp.10-11.
- [4] Li Shaoxia(2019). Modernization of Economic Management and New Trend of Economic Management Development. New Business Weekly, No.21, pp.5.
- [5] Xing Chengbing(2019). Modernization of Economic Management and New Trend of Economic Management Development. Economic Outlook around Bohai Sea, No.10, pp.179-180.
- [6] Sun Xiaojun(2016). An Analysis of the Modernization of Economic Management and the New Trend of Economic Management Development. Future Talents, No.14, pp.251.