Abstract: The socialist core value system is the soul project of university campus culture construction. When you grasp that, grasp the fundamentals. The goal and task of actor training in universities and colleges determine that universities and colleges must strive to lead the construction of campus culture with the socialist core value system. The school of art and media of China Southern Airlines Zhenchuan University actively advocates the socialist core value system led by the construction of campus culture. In the construction of campus culture, some positive research and practice have been carried out and some achievements have been achieved. Integrate the social core value system into the construction of campus culture, and actively mobilize teachers and students to participate in the construction of campus culture.

1. Introduction

The goal and task of actor training in universities and colleges determine that universities and colleges must strive to lead the construction of campus culture with the socialist core value system. It is particularly important to strengthen the top-level design of the socialist core value system led by the construction of campus culture and education team. In terms of teaching guidance and practical education, it is necessary to integrate the socialist core value system into the campus material culture, spiritual culture, regional culture and other cultural forces. The construction of the socialist core value system is to share the socialist core value system with the culture of the whole society and all ethnic groups, to accumulate and build the socialist core value system of significance, and to pursue the change of the consciousness of the whole society [1]. The report of the 17th National Congress clearly proposed that the socialist core value system should be integrated into the whole process of national education and spiritual civilization construction. Therefore, it is very important to actively explore an effective way to lead the construction of campus culture with the socialist core value system.

2. Culture Construction of the Second Classroom on Campus

In order to deepen the reform of talent training mode, strengthen the ideological and political education of college students, improve the innovation spirit, entrepreneurship awareness and practical ability of college students, cultivate the humanism, science and art illiterate of college students, improve the role of the second classroom education of actors, which has "the quality of consciousness, quality, professional quality, professional quality"[2]. In order to promote the promotion of talent training, the student's Comprehensive development, in order to guide, promote the American - T & Media school is comprehensively promoting training programs for students' ability and quality. In order to ensure the smooth implementation of the plan, this implementation method is specially formulated. This method is an important supplement and improvement to the training target of Applied Talents in the college. The second classroom culture of University discussed in this paper refers to the teachers and students created and accumulated in the long-term understanding and education practice, which reflects the different value orientation between the university teachers and students and other social groups. The mode of thinking and the norms of behavior are one of the spiritual forces to maintain and offset the superimposed culture.

3. Research Methods

This paper obtains information through questionnaire and data survey. Data from students at the magawa Institute of art aviation. It covers the campus, interests and suggestions, and is very skilled in the second classroom. Through the analysis of several small aspects, from shallow to deep, understand the needs of all aspects of the social core value system, and have different requirements for other aspects[3]. According to the recent survey results, i.e. students are expected to study and practice the socialist core value system. Finally, the data are analyzed and the following results are obtained. It promotes the core system of socialism. As its own responsibility, it promotes the development concept of "building brand and highlight function" and adopts prior innovation and forgery. In concept, we are the core value system of socialism and ahead of the young people. In our posture, we actively guide the young people to develop new media as a product of network culture. In terms of content, we provide iyia Please work hard to promote the improvement of young people's comprehensive ability and quality. Next, we will make a detailed explanation from three aspects: the socialist core value system that leads young people, the network cultural heritage that leads young people, and the brand cultural service.

3.1. LEADOUT THINKING IS THE SPIRIT OF CAMPUS CULTURE CONSTRUCTION

Therefore, we should take the socialist core values as our responsibility and promote a good campus culture[4]. Statistics show that this year's College of art and media, three youth colleges, started five avant-garde classes, and training and hosting of workstations of eight party members, young people's "three villages to go", "four progress and four characters" and more than 20 practical activities of volunteer service. This series of measures not only deepen students' understanding of the connotation of socialist core values, but also pay attention to the relationship between theory and practice, so that the socialist core values are truly internalized and externalized. In particular, according to our college, we have set up units around the "socialist core value for practice service group", leading the cultural construction, and driving the purpose of long-term stable cooperation with surrounding communities and primary and secondary schools. In order to set the ready use time.

3.2. YOUNG GUIDES OF ONLINE CULTURAL PRODUCTS

The product of the unity and development of network technology and campus culture, as the cultural heritage of campus network, the guidance book of campus education, knowledge transfer, ideological interaction, cultural services play an important role. The network culture platform is also an important foundation to promote the campus mainstream culture[5]. Art and media schools, the use of new media technology, the use of new media technology, the establishment of network culture promotion group, the rational use of new media, in order to guide young students, they are in order to regenerate the advantages of professional advantages. The core value of socialism in 1996 is the sum of "Chinese style series", "paper cutting series", "Chinese painting series", "ink painting series", "ink painting series" and "comic series". Through animation, comics, small golden text design, it leads the trend and attracts young people.

3.3. CREATE BRAND CULTURE AND LEAD THE CONSTRUCTION OF CAMPUS CULTURE. CAMPUS CULTURE

Activity is an important way to construct campus culture, which can increase the influence and visibility of campus culture and promote the innovation ability of youth. Since its establishment in 2013, the art and media team of art and media school has formed a sharp contrast with the young people in schools and departments through the landscaping and restoration of the campus foundation and cultural landscape[6]. In the past three years, more than 400 square meters have been painted inside the school, and more than 70 square meters of basement cover nearly 1000 square meters of the painted area outside the school. The team received three local honors and some university level honors. In the future, we will also apply for the exclusive group branch based on the project operation mode, the University entrepreneur of the University entrepreneur team, and finally the unique campus brand cultural creation activity of the park.

4. The Role of the Second Classroom in Strengthening the Socialist Core Value Education of College Students

On the basis of strengthening the ideological and political education of college students, playing the first class role in the first class to cultivate and practice the core value of socialism, we should actively carry out the second class to mobilize students' concern for learning. The function of the second classroom is to standardize the ideological actions of college students, promote team spirit, adjust interpersonal relationships, and expand learning content. The core value of socialism can play an important role in the second classroom at the national, social and personal levels. The following are the core values of socialism, "patriotism, dedication, honesty and amiability" at the personal level. It shows that through the second class, students can be guided to establish a correct world outlook, life prospects and values, cultivate students' patriotism, cultivate ideas and actions, professionalism and dedication, and learn emotional, physical and spiritual limitations[7]. Cultivate good integration and professionalism, and further help college students to carry out socialist core value education and practice.

4.1. ENABLE STUDENTS TO ESTABLISH CORRECT WORLD OUTLOOK, OUTLOOK ON LIFE AND VALUES, AND CULTIVATE STUDENTS' PATRIOTISM

The exposed environment of modern college students is complex and changeable, but their thinking is not mature enough. Their social experience is insufficient, their political discrimination is poor, they are easily deceived and influenced by bad thoughts. Please confirm that it is consistent with the party's basic line, principles and guidelines and in line with mainstream values. Patriotism has always been a fine tradition of China and an important part of socialist core value education. The patriotic education centered on the original teaching may lead to false emptiness. Second, various forms of classroom education. Students take part in regional activities, visit the mountains and rivers of the motherland, and improve the pride of the country through tonight's comparison with that in the evening. Through keynote speeches, seminars and cultural performances, students' patriotism can be aroused and they can participate in patriotic education base. These are important activities in the second classroom, and they also play a role in the education of socialist core values.

4.2. THE STANDARDIZATION OF IDEOLOGICAL ACTION OF COLLEGE STUDENTS AND THE CULTIVATION OF PROFESSIONALISM

Dedication is an important value standard for college students. The cultivation of College Students' professional quality is not only an important part of serving college students, but also an important part of socialist core value education. The cultivation of College Students' professional quality focuses on the learning and shaping of a good image. Through the second classroom, this carrier promotes the advanced working mode of special ordinary workers, teachers, social positions, and the advanced behavior of excellent students. Students encounter wisdom and thinking in order to establish the correct prospect of students in building professional experts. Recruitment should adopt the strategy of "going out", visit the excellent enterprises where the students are, invite the excellent company employees to communicate with the school, truly achieve role exchange, and make full preparation for recruitment. In order to help students find and love their work and dedication correctly, please carry out educational activities like future planning for college students.

4.3. THE STANDARDIZATION OF IDEOLOGICAL ACTION OF COLLEGE STUDENTS AND THE CULTIVATION OF ITS INTEGRATION

Consistency is an important part of College Students' moral education, and also an important part of College Students' socialist core value education. The development of consistent education needs the organic combination of the first class education and the second class education, and students can unify knowledge and action. The second classroom implements the integrity campus construction, creates the integrity atmosphere. Organize group day activities and thematic class meetings with the theme of "honesty test", "integrity seminar" and "integrity"[8]. Set up the integration documents of the school, let the students feel the importance of integration.

4.4. STANDARDIZE THE IDEOLOGICAL BEHAVIOR OF COLLEGE STUDENTS AND CULTIVATE FRIENDLY QUALITY

Amiability is an ethical morality that citizens must abide by. The approachable quality of college students is an important content of the education of socialist core value of college students, and an important way to realize the socialist core value. In the process of cultivating affinity, the first classroom and the second classroom need to be combined organically, and need the mutual promotion of school and society. Schools can promote friendly quality by strengthening their journals, radio, email and Internet. Encourage students to participate in social practice, to local primary schools, welfare institutions and families friendly to the elderly, and organize students to cultivate friendly quality from social practice. Strengthen the construction of campus culture, actively carry out social services, civilization building and other activities, promote the friendly moral model, and form a moral fashion of politeness and tolerance on campus[9]. To carry out educational activities with the theme of various holiday opportunities. Strengthen the cultivation of friendly quality of college students.
