Abstract: The legalization of student management in universities and colleges is the foundation of sustainable development and colleges and universities. It is an important means to manage universities and colleges effectively according to legal power. However, the implementation of the current legal rules of the graduate school, the incorrect management mode, the establishment and implementation of the strong color management system of human rules, the weakness of some students, the legal understanding and contradiction between the above-mentioned obstacles of the rules and regulations and the actual management. We need to establish the right based thinking mode and strengthen the life oriented management thinking mode. Improve the management system, emphasize the significance of legal rules based on substantive rules, focus on publicity, and improve students' legal awareness. Human rules should abandon excessive boredom.

1. Introduction

Years ago, the amendment of the constitution introduced the strategy of "rule by law" according to the constitution. In addition, 10 years ago, Peking University refused to issue him a diploma or degree certificate, which led him to push the University of science and technology into the defendant seat and bring an administrative lawsuit with Beijing Haidian District People's court. Peking University didn't give him to the dock doctor, so Liu Yanwen also pushed the university to the dock. These two cases set a precedent for students and their university opponents[1]. When the State implements the strategy of running the country by law, the universities of single science and comprehensive universities take advantage of this strong trend to run the University by law. The management method of college students has been a topic since a long time ago. Whether the rules of legal thinking penetrate into the management of college students, and whether the way of thinking, methods and methods of management meet the legal requirements. When we see online universities or colleges as defendants or lost, we are no longer as surprised and curious as we were 10 years ago. However, when we carefully analyze some cases, we feel that the legal rules of management are not high enough. Make unexpected cases. There are many reasons to go back to the source, such as too simple methods to solve students' problems. The reason is that we don't pay attention to the use of process, the formulation of rules and regulations, the obvious color of human nature, and the coordination with laws and regulations. When we revisit this issue, it may look like a superficial clich[2]. In fact, it can remind people of the original situation that "if there is change, there is no incentive". First, universities and colleges manage students according to existing laws, rules and regulations. Secondly, we can learn the relevant rules from the legal rules, and filter the management content according to the existing laws, rules and rules, and supplement and improve the corresponding rules and rules of management.

2. The Value of Legalization of College Students' Management

According to the education law of the people's Republic of China (hereinafter referred to as the "Education Law") and the higher education law of the people's Republic of China (hereinafter referred to as the "higher education law"), the regulations are applicable to the operation of Chinese universities. In 1999, the Ministry of education and culture of the people's Republic of China put forward the official document of "it is necessary to actively promote the running of schools according to law", giving up the trend of running schools according to law in mainland China[3]. In 2005, the Ministry of culture and culture of the people's Republic of China issued the regulations on the management of comprehensive universities and college students (hereinafter referred to as the regulations). This reflects the overall trend of humanitarianism, democratization, legal system and Science in modern student management. The legalization of University and university student management is not only the inevitable requirement of managing the university according to law, but also the reasonable choice that does not conform to international standards[4]. That is the right of teachers and students. It not only emphasizes the assumption of their legal obligations, but also the long-term value that the risk of school management is dominated by the law in the management of university students. It is mainly based on the University and the university students are big The importance of legal domination in academic management.

2.1. Legalization of University Running is the Foundation of Sustainable Development of University

Since the beginning of the 21st century, the university education in China has changed from the elite education to the mass education. Nowadays, many universities and colleges are faced with such problems as loan crisis, difficulties in logistics reform, personnel training, master's thesis training, and improvement of students' quality. Then, from the point of view of the development scale of the University, the stable control of the number of registered students, the development of the pass, almost all the changes of the development mode of the University and the University, are facing, that is, how to expand the development of practical development from the change. That is to say, how does the university develop with the expansion of "space", expansion of students' deployment, completion of classroom construction, deepening of facilities, deepening of discipline, improvement of management system, construction of "software" and other "hardware" for improving students' quality[5]. I know that the large-scale development of universities and graduate schools in the past few years has real roots in the expansion of university enrollment scale. In other words, the increase in the number of students has expanded universities and colleges, expanded their scale, improved their facilities, and introduced teachers and other hardware facilities[6]. From this point of view, students are the catalyst of hardware development of universities and colleges, and the "God" that universities and colleges rely on. Facing the importance of students and so many students (such as Jilin University's full-time students 5412 and 20233 adult education students in 2009). In order to improve the competitiveness of the school and strengthen the competitiveness of the school, effective management methods and methods can make the school get higher development and improve the quality of running the school. The choice of comprehensive method is very important[7]. Morality, religion, economy, law and so on are part of the alternative comprehensive method. The author believes that the unification of law is the unification of standardization and obligation, so it should be the most effective and important method for the development of universities. In the process of modern countries moving towards education, many countries choose the rule of law, which is an important feature of American university students' problem management[8]. The management process can be described as legal basis, legal basis, law enforcement and law breaking. The appropriate rules and systems for student management are not only very complete, but also a strong sense of strict compliance with the law and legal acts. [1] in order to improve the quality of the University, what kind of university is the development of the university through the domination of the law of student management, and also for the permanent goal. And, to a higher level of development springboard. From the perspective of market economy, the quality and quantity of students will become an important factor for the development and survival of universities in the future, and the existing higher education institutions without competitive advantage will be integrated by the market[9]. How to train students better in the market competitiveness, so that the advantages of the school can be realized, so that the school can obtain unlimited power source.

2.2. Legalization of Student Management in Universities and Colleges is an Important Means to Effectively Manage Universities in Accordance with Legal Obligations

Colleges and universities are the important carriers of the national education and the important subjects of the national education function. The State exercises legislative and judicial authority in the field of education, and the special education administration exercises the right of management education. These are to effectively achieve the goal of school education and promote. In our country, the school is not an administrative institution, but a legal entity of a public institution. However, part of the school management activities act as the educational executive power of a state. The administrative power exercised by a school is not inherent in its nature, but acquired for the purpose of promoting education, promoting the exercise of rights and being recognized by domestic laws and regulations. For example, Article 8 of China's degree rules stipulates that bachelor's degree shall be awarded by a university approved by the State Council. In addition, master's and doctoral degrees are awarded by universities and research institutions approved by the State Council. Other educational institutions may be established or recognized according to state certificates or relevant state rules and other academic certificates. Article 41, Article 41 of the higher education law stipulates in Article 41, Article 41 of the higher education law that it has the right to manage the identity of students and to adjudicate or punish students.

3. Based on the Analysis of the Above Subjective and Objective Resistance Factors,

We also clearly recognize that the rule of law in the work of college students is not a matter of overnight, it can not be completed overnight. However, based on the development trend and understanding of the above values, in the long run, to improve the quality of higher education, high-level universities and important fields of construction, to promote the improvement of the quality of higher education, in order to adjust the institutions of higher education for the future, we can maintain the "social needs" of setting, market and economic development [9] the needs of student management, we have not yet complied with the rules of law, and decided to The idea of secondary development is necessary. Due to the limitation of the universe, this subject is mainly discussed from the point of view of the University.

3.1. Establishing Rights Based Thinking and Life Based Thinking

Article 26 of the Universal Declaration of human rights stipulates that the purpose of education is to fully develop personality and strengthen respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms. "Correct" thinking is the basic thinking that must be established to manage the future students, so we must firmly grasp this basic principle when we formulate and implement the student management system. Only by adhering to this principle can we become more stable in the face of resistance to reality. We will not adopt the "detour" approach because of some degree of contradiction between laws, policies, rules and rules, as well as the actual management dilemma of the school. Not only that, but also should actively come forward to solve the problem, so that the school "pain" up. Firmly establish rights based thinking and business management thinking based on life

3.2. Please Improve the Management System and Emphasize the Meaning of Legal Rules with Equal Emphasis on Entities and Procedures

It is the basic principle that Chinese higher laws and regulations restrict the management of students. The rules published in 2005 have several specific application contents. However, generally speaking, it can not meet many needs of student management. Therefore, as the basis of school management, it is necessary to make abstract documents according to laws and regulations. For students who borrow tuition fees, in order to make students pay tuition fees in an obligatory way before graduation, a specific system of "non-compliance with tuition fees and other registration conditions stipulated by the school" can be set up according to Article 10 of the "provisions". The risk of tuition is moving forward, and the state and School Subsidy Policies for students should support this issue. Then, can we improve the management system and emphasize the meaning of legal rules as entities and procedures? First, the establishment of graduate management system should focus on the legalization of entities. The rules and regulations formulated by universities and colleges can be refined and specified within the scope permitted by laws and regulations. It is not allowed to exceed the authority of the law and violate the law. "Students' congeniality" and school rules should fully protect students' legal rights. "Examinees should be discharged from hospital", "campus graduates are not allowed to move their children with them", "the book fee is five times of the book price", and other provisions that contradict the provisions are invalid. Second, we should try to establish the management system of graduate students. This is the most advantageous weapon to overcome the above analysis for the humanist color formula of student management system.

4. Conclusion

The rule of law in student management does not mean that the rule of law is the only way of student management. The rule of law is not omnipotent. The strict rules of the statute make them "impersonal". Therefore, in the construction and planning of College Students' management law, other forces that affect students' behaviors, such as morality and habits, cannot be ignored. As long as they are closely combined, the law of college students will be prosperous and full of vitality.
