

The Exploration and Practice of the Education Mode of College English "Curriculum Thought and Politics"

Han Nan^{a,*}, Liu Fang

School of Arts and Sciences, Shaanxi University of Science and Technology, Xi'an, 710021, Shaanxi, China

^a email: hannan@sust.edu.cn

*corresponding author

Keywords: College English, Course Thought and Politics, Exploration

Abstract: In the course education of university stage, it is not only necessary for students to master the basic professional knowledge, but also to cultivate the students' comprehensive quality. Therefore, colleges and universities have integrated the ideological and political concept of curriculum into each curriculum education, and comprehensively improve the students' comprehensive quality. In the current college English teaching classroom, teachers should integrate the ideological and political concept of curriculum into the curriculum education mode, and construct a relatively perfect education system, so that students' outlook on life and values can be well developed after graduation.

1. The Meaning of the Course

In carrying out the ideological and political education mode of the course in college English teaching, teachers should make a comprehensive understanding and in-depth analysis of the students' current development needs and students' ideology, and integrate the moral education knowledge into the college English curriculum education, thus playing a good enlightening role to the students' ideology. Teachers should also establish a more perfect modern education concept, respect the students' main position, and carry out relevant teaching activities with the students' personality development as the main body, so that the curriculum ideological and political education mode can play its value and effect in the process of college English teaching.

Curriculum ideological and political education concept is a new type of education in order to improve the students' comprehensive quality in the current era. Curriculum ideological and political education mainly means that teachers of various subjects should base themselves on the contents of teaching materials in the course of classroom teaching, excavate sufficient ideological and political education theories for students, and integrate relevant ideological and political education theories effectively, so that all kinds of ideological and political courses can be developed in the same direction and in the same direction. Constantly improve the ideological and moral level of students [1]. In the current college English teaching class, it is necessary not only for students to master the basic theoretical knowledge, but also to effectively exercise and improve the students' language application ability and knowledge mastery. Therefore, in the current college English teaching class, teachers should integrate the ideological and political ideas of the course to guide the actual teaching work effectively, so as to highlight the characteristics of the university English humanities education, so that each student can not only master the relevant knowledge points in the classroom, but also establish the correct outlook on life and values, so that the university English course can coordinate with other courses. common to the ideological and moral level of students to carry out a good cultivation, to achieve the goal of educating people in the university.

Figure 1 Ideological and moral level

2. The Advantage of Constructing Ideological and Political Education Mode in College English Class

In the current university stage of curriculum education, college English as a basic student. Therefore, teachers should fully grasp the advantages of college English teaching to cultivate students' ideological and moral level, and at the same time, language is also an important part of culture. Therefore, in the current college English teaching class, teachers should fully understand the combination of ideological and political courses in college English teaching. In the current college English teaching class, students should not only master the basic theoretical knowledge, but also start with the knowledge of English. Therefore, the advantages of developing ideological and political courses in the current college English teaching class are very prominent. The mode of co-construction of ideological and political education in the college English teaching class can not only enrich the content of college English classroom teaching, but also enable students to establish correct cultural concepts, correctly view the differences between Chinese and Western cultures, and comprehensively improve students' English quality [2]. Therefore, in the current college english teachers classroom, teachers must use the ideological and political teaching concept of the course scientifically and reasonably, make good innovation and optimization to the actual teaching, so that every student can bring up the interest and enthusiasm for college english learning, and promote the students to establish the correct outlook on life and values, and highlight the characteristics of college english quality education.

3. The Strategy of Constructing the Education Mode of Ideological and Political Courses in College English Class

(1) Strengthening linkages with teaching materials

When constructing the ideological and political curriculum education mode in the current college English teaching class, teachers should base themselves on the contents of the teaching materials to cultivate and improve the students' ideology and morality, and be rich in moral education materials in the college English teaching materials. Therefore, teachers should explore and analyze the relevant contents in college English before the class starts, so as to effectively improve the students' ideological and moral level [3]. For example, when a teacher tells a student that the part of Workplace English, Community Service, is just a part of the article, it focuses on the volunteers, so the teacher can ask the students to discuss it in groups: Do you plan to do any community service work, why or why? In the process of letting the students discuss, the teacher can let the students share what it is for the society to be a volunteer to contribute to the society by combining the major they have learned, and the students can make clear their obligations to the society in the process of independent discussion, and conclude that it is the responsibility of the contemporary college students to take an active part in the volunteer activities, so that the students' ideological and moral level can be significantly improved.

Figure 2 Linkages with teaching materials

For example, in the course of classroom teaching, teachers can introduce some hot issues in the current society to let students discuss, such as "good people are difficult to do ", so that each student can start from the social hot issues to constantly improve their own ideological and moral level. After the teaching of this class, teachers can let students take volunteers as the topic to write the composition, in the composition students can express their inner thoughts and feelings at will, so that each student can constantly improve their own ideological and moral level. Therefore, when constructing the education mode of ideological and political courses in the current college english teaching class, teachers should base themselves on the contents of the teaching materials, create a vivid teaching atmosphere for the students, so that each student can clarify their own responsibilities and constantly improve the students' sense of social responsibility.

(2) To fully tap the materials in the teaching materials

When constructing the ideological and political curriculum education mode in the current college english teachers' classroom, teachers should fully excavate the moral education material existing in the teaching material, so that every student can establish the correct outlook on life and values, which requires teachers to prepare lessons well before the beginning of the classroom, so as to ensure the orderly progress of the college english classroom teaching.

Figure 3 Material for moral education

In the course of classroom teaching, teachers should set up a correct consumption view. In the course of classroom teaching, teachers should not only let students master some words about economy, but also guide students to gather effectively the knowledge of the class and their daily life and consumption behavior. In the classroom teaching process, the teacher can let the students express their views on the use of credit cards, the students after the answer is completed, the teacher should effectively guide and correct some of the students' bad behavior, after the teacher put forward this discussion problem, each student's enthusiasm for classroom learning and interest in classroom learning will be fully mobilized. In the follow-up stage of classroom teaching, the teacher should let the students analyze their own expenses within a month. After the analysis, the teacher should tell the students to make a more detailed consumption plan in their daily life, and not to carry out blind comparison with other students. In order to make every student set up the correct consumption concept, the teacher can also show the students the relevant news about the campus loan in the class, so that each student can arrange their own fund expenditure scientifically and reasonably.

Create a democratic and harmonious teaching atmosphere

Teachers in the current college English teaching class, in the construction of ideological and political curriculum education model, not only should be based on the content of the teaching materials, students' daily behavior and ideas for good guidance, teachers should also set a good example for students, first of all, in the process of classroom teaching, teachers should start from the heart and emotion, effective care for students, constantly infect students' hearts. In the process of classroom teaching, teachers should respect students' learning behavior and learning ideas, so as to construct a harmonious classroom teaching atmosphere, and in the process of classroom teaching, teachers should also increase the opportunities for students to learn independently, which not only draws the distance between teachers and students, but also effectively improves the students' comprehensive quality. In the process of classroom teaching, teachers can also effectively combine campus culture and classroom teaching content, carry out relevant practical activities, let students go deep into the campus to dig into the spiritual pursuit of campus culture, so as to play a very important role in promoting the formation of students' good thinking quality. In the course of classroom teaching, teachers can also carry out regular activities about Chinese traditional culture to enhance students' national pride.

4. Conclusion

When constructing the ideological and political curriculum education mode in the current college english teachers' classroom, teachers should base themselves on the contents of the teaching materials to carry out relevant teaching activities, and teachers should deeply analyze the meaning and characteristics of the ideological and political curriculum education mode, combine the current ideological and moral level of students to cultivate students' ideological sentiment well and promote their all-round development.

Acknowledgements

The exploration and practice of the cooperative education mode of College English course under the guidance of "Course Ideological and political education" (teaching reform project of SUST, 2019, project number:19Y097).

References

- [1] Chen Hongmei. Exploration and practice of ideological and political teaching in college English courses. think tank era, no. 13, pp. 15-16, 2018.
- [2] Chen Shunli. Exploration and practice of ideological and political education in college English courses. Curriculum Education Research, no. 43, pp. 115-116, 2018.
- [3] Xu Qianhui. Research on innovation construction and implementation path of ideological and political teaching mode of university entrepreneurship education course. Journal of Dali University, no. 9, pp. 85-86, 2019.