Abstract: “The core of administering the Party strictly in an all-round way is to strengthen the leadership of the Party. The foundation is comprehensive, the key is strict and the key is to administer the Party”. The important speech delivered by General Secretary Xi Jinping at the Sixth Plenary Session of the Eighteenth Central Discipline Commission profoundly expounded the new connotation of the comprehensive and strict administration of the Party, clearly put forward the new requirements for the management of the Party, which is an important guideline for promoting the comprehensive and strict administration of the Party, and pointed out the direction for the management of the Party and the improvement of the Party. As an important part of the Party building and student work in Colleges and universities, the Party building of college students should start from many aspects and take many measures simultaneously to improve the effectiveness of the work. College student members with good party spirit are the new force to counter-feed and achieve a new and normal rule of the party. There is still a gap between the current situation of party members’ self-cultivation and the strict management of the party’s new normal. From the perspective of student party members' education, this paper puts forward to some extent how to focus on training socialist modernization builders and successors in the new normal period to ensure that the party's cause is passed on.

1. Introduction

Since the 18th National Congress, General Secretary Xi Jinping has attached great importance to party building and has repeatedly stressed that the party must manage the party and strictly manage the party. General Secretary Xi Jinping also put forward during the investigation in Jiangsu: “Coordinate and promote the comprehensive construction of a well-off society, comprehensively deepen reform, comprehensively promote the rule of law, comprehensively and strictly manage the party, and push reform, opening up, and socialist modernization to a new level.” [1] For the first time, the Party has been promoted from “strictly administering the Party” to “strictly administering the Party in an all-round way”. “Colleges and universities shoulder the important task of studying, studying and propagating Marxism and training builders and successors of socialism with Chinese characteristics. Strengthening the Party's leadership in Colleges and universities and strengthening and improving the Party's construction in Colleges and universities are the fundamental guarantee for running a socialist university with Chinese characteristics. [2] At present, facing the new situation and tasks of development, it is of great significance to strengthen and improve the Party building work for college students in accordance with the requirements of strictly governing the Party in an all-round way.

2. Strengthen the Education of Ideals and Beliefs

At present, the education of ideals and beliefs of college student Party members is facing a complex realistic environment. With the deepening of reform and opening up and profound changes in economic system, profound changes in social structure, profound readjustment of interest Bureau and profound changes in ideas. The independence, variability and diversity of people's ideological activities have increased significantly. The complexity of this social living environment has made great changes in the evaluation of social reality and the expectation of individual future of college student Party members. Internationally, the infiltration of Western ideology has brought great impact to the education of ideals and beliefs. Some Western values can be quickly spread to college students through the Internet. Some college students are active but immature, so they are easy to worship blindly. Even some college student party members educated in ideals and beliefs are vulnerable to decadent values such as western individualism, money worship and hedonism due to their limited experience and poor discrimination. There is a “belief crisis” and even doubts about the current Chinese system and their Marxist beliefs and pursuit of communist ideals.

In recent years, college students' Party building has undergone an obvious change: in the past, there was no quota limit for the number of mature students to develop one after another. At present, there is a strict quota limit on the number of people who are mature and develop one by one and who are allocated according to indicators. This also reflects the organization's determination to strictly control the quality of joining the Party.

In the historical story “Yan zi makes Chu”, there is a passage like this: “tangerine was born in Huainan as tangerine, and was born in Huaibei as poncirus trifoliata, with similar leaves and different tastes. So what? Different soil and water “. Often used metaphorically, once the environment changes, the nature of things may also change. On April 1, 2014, Comrade Xi Jinping quoted this allusion when he delivered an important speech at the European Academy in Bruges, stating that China cannot completely copy the political system and development model of other countries, but must follow the path of its own development. According to this allusion, can we think backwards, the impact of the environment on a person can not be ignored, but as a party member can not adhere to their beliefs in any environment. Stick to your beliefs and know exactly what kind of person you should be, no matter what external influence you are. This is something that grassroots party organizations and educators should constantly reflect on.

According to the new characteristics of college students' learning and living environment, the practical education link of college student party members should be strengthened, and in practice, party members should be rooted in firm ideals and beliefs. From the law of moral education of knowledge, affection, intention and behavior, it seems that behavioral practice can only be carried out on the basis of knowledge, love and intention. In fact, for college student party members, social practice has more in the process of ideal and belief education. Important features and functions. Ideals and beliefs are the core content of the college students' world outlook on life and values, and they are an important part of the main spiritual world. Knowledge comes from practice, but for college student Party members, most of the practical activities are limited to campus life, even if they go to society, they pay less attention to the deep-seated problems of social development. It can be said that the limitation of the social practice of college student Party members leads to the limitation of their understanding of the cause of socialism with Chinese characteristics led by the Party and the Party, which leads to the lack of profound scientific rationality in their grasp of ideals and beliefs. Therefore, colleges and universities should strengthen the practical education of college student Party members, strengthen action education, and make full use of such opportunities as theme party days, important festivals, important activities and major events. We should firmly grasp the effective carriers and ways of serving the society in Colleges and universities, organize college student Party members to participate in the specific work of local economic and social development, so that they can understand vivid social reality, strengthen rational thinking and build the cornerstone of ideals and beliefs in their actions.

3. Propagating Positive Energy, Not Avoiding Negative Energy

Positive energy is a term of physics. The substance whose energy is greater than vacuum is positive, and the substance whose energy is lower than vacuum is negative. Now it is compared to all the motivation and feelings that give people upward and hope, inspire people to pursue constantly, and make life a full and happy life. All people and things that can give people positive, healthy, inspiring, powerful, and hopeful are called “positive energy.” Positive energy is not only a noun in the current society, but also a kind of social energy, a force that inspires, motivates people and makes people full of hope for life.

A positive attitude towards life is an important part of the cultivation of college students' outlook on life and a determining factor in the shaping of college students' personality. A positive attitude towards life corresponds to a serious, optimistic, enterprising and pragmatic outlook on life. Negative attitudes toward life correspond to negative, vulgar and inaction. The “three-popular culture” uses the media, mobile phones and other media to poison young college students, vulgar, decadent, and negative attitudes towards life. There are quite a market among the college students. To shape college students' healthy personality, we must strengthen the influence of positive energy. By means of in-school lectures, theme class meetings, individual conversations, network platforms and mobile phones, we can publicize the advanced typical figures and deeds around students at home and abroad, so as to inspire them and guide them.

If positive energy makes people sunny, negative energy can also make people strong. In all kinds of books and articles, it is advocated that positive energy should be disseminated vigorously, but negative energy, which is often avoided, also plays an important role in the process of education. Facing negative energy is actually facing reality, deliberately avoiding negative energy is to cover up. Of course, no one or organization should spread negative energy, let alone write it into documents or textbooks, or even mention them in public. Because there are still many people who are not ready or have enough ability to face it, it is likely to be swallowed up by negative energy in a flash. However, if at the right time, let it courageously face and understand clearly and dialectically, positive energy will spread more powerfully.

4. Strengthen traditional culture education

As a big concept, traditional culture is a combination of two concepts: tradition and culture. The so-called “tradition”, from the perspective of cultural and chemistry, refers to the social and historical factors of its own characteristics passed down from generation to generation, such as the ideology and morality, customs and habits, literature and art, and institutional norms that continue from generation to generation. [3]

Chinese traditional culture is profound and profound. Today, with the ever-changing technology, traditional culture seems to be just being dusted in the corner of no one, and staying in the slogan again and again. With the passage of time, those wisdom and splendid treasures that have been spreading for thousands of years will gradually become Abstract memories, which will not occupy a place in the minds of College students. Years later, it may be difficult to mention it again.

Although the negative impact of exam-oriented education is hard to cure, in the new era, we should strive to change the wrong orientation of emphasizing examination over application, emphasizing technology over morality. The influence of traditional culture plays a vital role in cultivating one's connotation and shaping one's personality.

No inheritance, no development. It is necessary for colleges and universities to strengthen the education of excellent traditional culture for students. The main way is to strengthen guidance and create a good atmosphere of respecting excellent traditional culture as widely as possible. We should further innovate the means of excellent traditional culture education. In recent years, there has been a “fever of Chinese studies” in China. Such as “Yi Zhongtianpin Three Kingdoms” and “Yu Dan's Experience in the Analects of Confucius” from CCTV's 100 forums, which are widely sought after, have brought opportunities for the development of our traditional cultural education and inspired the traditional cultural education model in Colleges and universities. On the other hand, in the education sector, especially in universities, the development of traditional cultural education is still lagging behind, and it is difficult to adapt to the requirements of social development. Therefore, in addition to the educational power of the school, it also requires the broad participation of the whole society, such as: mass media such as television, radio, public service advertisements, and the Internet. In addition, the government has introduced corresponding policies to support it. In this way, traditional culture is embedded in every corner of daily life, and it is believed that Chinese traditional culture will be better passed down among the vast majority of young people.

5. Strengthening Party History Education

A person cannot remember the history of his family, and he will not recognize his ancestors. If one does not understand the history of the nation, there will be no national feelings. A person does not understand the history of the country and will not have patriotism. A party member does not understand the history of the party and will not have a real awe of the party.

College students are the pillars of society, shoulder the mission of building the country, and guarantee the future construction of the party and the country. Therefore, improving the quality of students through various means is a problem that every teacher must consider now. In recent years, the Party Central Committee and the State Council have proposed to strengthen the history education for college students in the ideological education of college students. We need to further play an important role in the work of Party history. Through in-depth study of Party history, we should conscientiously study the history of the Party, publicize the history of the Party, and achieve the role of the government in educating people. Deeply excavating the valuable contents in the history of the CPC and educating students are of great significance to the promotion of Ideological and political education of College students.

The Party's fine tradition and revolutionary tradition were formed in the construction and struggle of democratic revolution and socialist revolution. It is precisely because of this indomitable spirit that people can achieve great revolutionary victory. At present, these excellent revolutionary traditions and spirits encourage the people to strive for strength and for the cause of communism. Therefore, strengthening the education of college students in party history can promote the value of the revolution to them, promote their efforts and strive for the future construction of the motherland.

By continuously learning the history of the party, students can understand that only socialism can save China and develop China. On the one hand, let more college students understand China's basic national conditions, combine patriotism and love socialism, and enhance national self-confidence and self-respect. On the other hand, let college students understand the political, economic and cultural aspects of the country, and realize the main problems facing the current society, and how to effectively solve the problems, so that students have a more comprehensive and rich understanding of China's national conditions. This will help them to better implement the Party's line and policy, and further enhance their moral quality.

6. Conclusion

According to the requirement of strictly governing the Party in an all-round way, it is an inevitable requirement for strengthening the education and management of college student Party members in the new normal period and giving full play to their vanguard and exemplary role in ideology, study, work and life. Only by strictly demanding and systematically training can we effectively improve the quality of college student party members and give play to the leading role of college student party members in the construction of excellent academic style. For the growth of college students, we will create a healthy, harmonious, positive and excellent environment for educating people, and strive to practice a party member and a banner. Thereby cultivating qualified builders and successors of the future socialist cause.
