Abstract: The socialist core values are essence and soul of the core value and should become a lifelong value pursuit of all young college students. As an educational institution, colleges and universities have unique resources and advantages to cultivate and fulfill socialist core values. In carrying out educational activities, positive and direct guidance is an important way, but the more effective means is the cultivation by means of integration. Therefore, it should be paid enough attention to explore the way of integration. Through integration, college students will consciously internalize the socialist core values and popularize them in daily life.

At present, in the social context of economic globalization, the reform and the opening up, all kinds of ideological and cultural exchanges, blends, confrontations have become frequent around the world. The 18th National Congress has formed and established the connotation of socialist core values, proposed the idea of actively practicing and cultivating socialist core values, so as to lead the socialist ideological trend. [4] President Xi Jinping has made many important expositions on socialist core values, requiring Colleges and universities to stand at the forefront of leading cultural construction, giving full play to the unique functions and advantages of university education, Letting the vast number of young college students deeply understand and consciously practice the socialist core values, becoming a reliable successor and qualified builder of the socialist cause. Since then, the cultivation of socialist core values in colleges and universities has been attached great importance to.

1. Integrating Socialist Core Values into Ideological and Political Courses

The ideological and political classroom plays an important theoretical role for the education and study of the socialist core values. The ideological and political textbooks have a profound and comprehensive interpretation and analysis of the formation and connotation of the socialist core values, which not only pays attention to the implementation of socialist core values knowledge, but also helps young college students internalize their ideas.[2] The socialist core values are divided into three levels, "building a prosperous, strong, democratic, civilized and harmonious country" is the value goal at the national level. "Constructing a free, equal, fair and legal system is the pursuit of social value. Patriotism, devotion, honesty and friendliness are the values of citizenship. Through the course of ideological and political education, the author excavates the rich connotation of socialist core values, and interprets its great significance in constructing correct world outlook for students, so that they can think deeply, experience with heart and transform into their own thoughts. Teachers should integrate the education of socialist core values into the teaching of theoretical courses, and help students lay a solid theoretical foundation. The core values of socialism should be divided into several topics and interpreted one by one, such as asking students to exchange discussions, talking about their understandings and experiences, expressing their respective understandings and feelings, summing up the results of the discussions, and sharing each other. Through various forms, young college students can be promoted to deepen their understanding the connotation and extension of the political theory.

2. Fitting Socialist Core Values into Professional Classrooms

At present, the concept of “the ideological and political cultivation by means of curriculums” has been deeply rooted in the hearts of people. Many colleges and universities are holding various competitions. Through the competition, teachers realize that they are an educator, not just a teacher. The political consciousness of teachers has been strengthened, and they have concrete moral education goal during the preparation of lessons, which has a better effect in the education of socialist core values. China has entered a new era of socialism with Chinese characteristics. The education of college students’ ideals, beliefs and core values should keep up with the requirements of the new era and conform to the needs of the construction of socialism in the new era. At present, teachers should guide the value of professional courses to the core values of socialism, and cultivate students firm political beliefs, moral sentiments, honest style of study and rigorous attitude. So Socialist core value system can be used to lead ethics education, reform education teaching means in students' ethical education, and strengthen the teacher team construction.

3. Integrating the Socialist Core Values into the Party Construction

At present, college students Party Construction has an important guiding significance for overall work, and it has a profound impact on students ideology. Party Construction includes many kinds of activities, such as the initiation education for new students to join the Party, the training of party activists, the activities of the theme Party Day, and so on.[1] In these activities, the cultivation and shaping of the socialist core values are integrated to promote the understanding of the student party members. Through different forms of organizational life, party activists, probationary party members, the party members can be promoted to pursue or maintain their advanced nature. In adhering to the core values of socialism, students should not only learn and practice themselves, but also promote and radiate students around, in order to play a core and exemplary role among ordinary students. Through unremitting work, in the soil of the heart of every college student, let the socialist core values replace all kinds of undesirable ideas, purify the ranks of party members, and improve the quality of organizational development, the cohesion and combat effectiveness of the Party organizations can be strengthened.

4. Blending the Education of Socialist Core Values into Social Practice

In curriculum and community practice activities, the school party and caucuses organization can design rich and colorful practical themes, organize students to conduct interviews on campus, carry out social surveys, go to communities, factories and mines, enterprises, schools, Red memorial places and new socialist countryside. [5] By Carrying out in-depth researches and examination activities according to practical topics, and through visiting different units, industries, regions, and people, students can practice team members, experiencing the glorious history of development of our party and our country during the period of magnificent reform. In practice, students can feel the tremendous achievements made since the 40th anniversary of reform and opening up, especially since the 18th National Congress, the tremendous changes that have taken place in the life of the masses, and the growing strength of our economy, science and technology, national defense, and comprehensive national strength, feeling the tremendous changes that have taken place in the spiritual outlook of the masses of the people, and strengthening their high confidence in the Communist Party of China, the socialist system. [6] In vivid practical activities, college students are promoted to understand the rich connotation and internal requirements of socialist core values, whose self-confidence and pursuit of socialist core values have been strengthened. Therefore, Blending the Education of Socialist Core Values into Social Practice is instructive significance for college students to set up scientific world outlook, views on life and values.

5. Melting Socialist Core Values into the Construction of Learning Atmosphere

Unswervingly carrying on the education and guidance of socialist core values to students is a powerful grasp of the construction of learning mood. Since the socialist core values were put forward, they have been an important content until present, such as the theme class meeting, the class activity and the grade regular meeting. Various forms and varied angles, such as literary and artistic performances, debates, speeches, reading activities, etc., such educational interpretation of the socialist core values makes students understand the relationship between freedom and law and discipline, rights and obligations, collective and individual, promotes the value leading role of socialist core values, and realizes the socialist core values of education and style of study to promote each other. It can be said that the education of socialist core values is an irreplaceable content and way to stabilize school spirit, strengthen study style and build class mood. Guiding students to form scientific and correct core values is the core of the learning atmosphere construction, which plays an important role in the construction of school spirit, class mood and the style of study.

6. Involving Socialist Core Values into the Campus Cultural Construction

The propaganda and education of socialist core values is the core and main line of campus culture construction. Colleges and universities should pay attention to the use of broadcasting, website, propaganda bar and WeChat public number to take socialist core values as the leading and organizing content, which should be updated regularly to create a strong campus culture atmosphere. [3] The school party committee or propaganda department shall direct the cultural construction and propaganda work of all units vigorously advocate and strongly guide the units to carry out cultural activities and project management according to the characteristics of their work or professional construction. Gradually their own brand of cultural activities can be built, and the socialist core values are leading the main campus culture, and establishing the building awareness of campus culture. Teachers should guide students to participate in various extracurricular cultural activities, youth activities, volunteer activities, and social practices, which can extend such kind of influence to the whole campus, as well as outside the campus, move to a larger scope and higher level. The construction of campus culture can improve the students' education and practice of the socialist core values. Let students, under the nourishment of campus culture, firm their own value pursuit. [7]

7. Conclusion

In a word, as for the promotion, education and practice of socialist core values, the positive education is of great importance, and embedded education is also a good way. However, integration education can infiltrate students' ideological consciousness, and enter the hearts of students. On the campus of colleges and universities, students tend to pay more attention to the study of professional courses, and they are more willing to participate in rich and colorful extracurricular activities. If professional courses and various activities are regarded as "staple foods", then, the integration of socialist core values is just like one of the "condiments", and many ways of integration are considered as "cooking methods", which will take root in the soul of young college students, sprout and blossom and bear fruit in action.

In the educational exploration of socialist core values, integration can be achieved omnipresent.[8] In addition to the above discussion, in order to achieve comprehensive and the whole process of integration, teachers can also integrate the values into scientific research, employment, financial assistance, mental health education, network ideological work, and so on. By all-around education publicity, the educational effect, together with the value and belief of college students can be strengthened. Schools can also properly set up some observation points to check the educational effect, according to feedback and rectification. By deepening and improving constantly, the study and practice of socialist core values can be tested and sublimated.[9]
