Abstract: In recent years, in the ideological and political education of college students, it is especially important to carry forward the core values of socialism. The ideological and political education of college students is guided by the core values of socialism, which can help college students establish correct values and at the same time cultivate cores for college students. The thinking of values is to look at problems and solve problems. Adhering to the people-oriented educational concept and integrating the socialist core values into classroom teaching and practice can we truly help ideological and political education courses to today's college students.

1. Introduction

Wealth, democracy, civilization, harmony, freedom, equality, justice, the rule of law, patriotism, dedication, integrity, friendliness, and the core values of socialism have refined these twenty-four words, which is the code of conduct that all people in China should abide by. The code of conduct and norms that each of us must follow. Adhering to and promoting the core values of socialism is a basic requirement for Chinese citizens and members of society, and it is also a code of conduct for teaching and educating people in schools. When setting up college students' ideological and political education courses, colleges and universities integrate socialist core values into them, internalize them into the mind and externalize them, and truly become the norms and norms of contemporary college students' behaviors, and then carry out extensive dissemination and promotion.

2. The Necessity of Integrating Socialist Core Values into College Students' Ideological and Political Education

In the socialist value system, the core values of socialism play a role in guiding the overall situation, and at the same time are the fundamental value norms and norms of the rapid development of society and economy. The socialist core values have highly concentrated the five-thousand-year-old culture of the Chinese nation. It is the value criterion for the adaptation and integration of Marxism with China's current national conditions, reflecting the development of the times, the socialist concept of honor and disgrace, and patriotism.

Wealth, democracy, civilization and harmony are expressed at the national level. They are the basic goals and requirements for building a socialist modernized country. They also accurately summarize the connotation of socialist core values and are the most fundamental elements of socialist core values. Freedom, equality, justice, and the rule of law are expressed from the social level. They are the goals and content that should be pursued in the social dimension of building a socialist modernized country. They represent the requirements of an ideal society. They are also the goals and socialist core that the Chinese Communist Party has been pursuing. Values. Patriotism, dedication, honesty, and friendliness are expressed on a personal level. As citizens of the country and members of society, we should all do these four things. Loyalty for the country, integrity for others, friendliness, and work and dedication. The code of conduct we must follow.

The construction of the socialist core value system promotes the continuous development of China's social civilization and integrates the socialist core values into the ideological and political education curriculum of college students. It can promote the dissemination and development of Chinese culture, the development of spiritual civilization, and promote the socialist culture. Construction. In the youth team of our country, college students are the backbone of the society, contributing a lot of power to the promotion of socialist values. Integrating core values into the ideological education of students can enhance the ideological awareness of today's college students and cultivate students' correct world outlook. Outlook on life, values, and thinking about problems, analyzing problems, and solving problems with socialist core values. Therefore, colleges and universities across the country should integrate socialist core values into them, and open ideological and political education courses in all directions and in multiple channels.

3. Integrating the Socialist Core Values into the Status Quo of College Students' Ideological and Political Education

At present, many colleges and universities have integrated socialist core values into the ideological and political education of college students, and have actively explored and tried them. For example, Tsinghua University, Renmin University of China, Fudan University and Shandong University have integrated socialist core values into college students' ideological politics. In the education, positive theoretical research and practical exploration have been carried out, and it has become a model example of other colleges and universities in China, which is worthy of reference. However, it is obvious that the ideological and political education course for college students under the perspective of socialist core values is only the first step. The integration of the curriculum into socialist values is still in the exploratory stage, and the theoretical reserves are not perfect. There are many deficiencies and areas to be perfected. This also requires us to still conduct a lot of research and analysis, actively carry out practice and exploration, and strive to actively call the Party Central Committee to integrate the socialist core values into higher education. The closer it is.

3.1 Some college administrators and teachers lack understanding

In the ideological and political education course of college students, the socialist core values are incorporated. In this respect, many college administrators do not know enough and pay attention to it. They always think that the ordinary values of classroom education have achieved good results. Further exploration and research, and even believe that the ideological education of today's college students is under control and does not need to be further strengthened. In fact, college administrators and teachers have largely ignored the impact of the rapid development of modern network technology on the values of today's college students. The management concept is outdated and cannot keep pace with the times.

In the ideological and political education course of college students, the socialist core values are integrated into it. Some college administrators and teachers are not demanding from the basic teaching content, syllabus, classroom time arrangement, and after-school practice. The thinking and innovation of advancement. Some colleges and universities are only scratching the surface of the propaganda and education of socialist core values. They are in the superficial form, blindly introducing Western ideas and teaching materials into the classroom, lacking a special set of access mechanisms for ideological and political education-related textbooks, and even Some textbooks that worship foreign and foreign, do not be firm in ideological and political, and reverse social fairness and justice ignore it, and do not pursue it.

3.2 Professional teacher team is lacking

Some colleges and universities do not have a professional ideological and political teacher team, nor do they have a perfect, well-structured and well-defined teacher training system for professional ideological and political education. The gap between the older teachers and the young teachers is large and the structure is unreasonable. In the teaching of ideological and political education, there is no good atmosphere for teachers to help each other, learn from each other, learn from each other's strengths, do not do a good example and set an example for college students, and even some college teachers are not spreading and promoting socialist core values and China. The traditional virtues of the nation are to explain their own wrong thoughts and theories, publicly attack the party's leadership, publicize the wrong ideas of the West, and transmit these wrong emotions to the students. These reasons also lead to the failure of the socialist core values. Incorporate into the ideological and political education of college students.

3.3 Related guarantees are not in place

In the course of ideological and political education for college students, the socialist core values are integrated into it. Some colleges and universities have not invested a lot of money, and they are far from the requirements in terms of manpower and financial resources. Colleges and universities should set up a special leading group to take charge of this work, but most universities did not implement it. In the course of ideological and political education for college students, integrating socialist core values requires a large amount of support from science and technology and network technology. For example, the content of socialist core values should be invested in campus network platforms and social practice activities. A large amount of financial support can further meet the needs of the work, but many colleges and universities have not provided enough resources to provide support and support for the integration work.

4. The main ways to integrate the socialist core values into the ideological and political education of college students

4.1 The ideological and political education curriculum as the main way to integrate

In the ideological and political education course of college students, integrating the socialist core values, the ideological and political education classroom should be the main way to spread the Marxist theory to the students in the school, and combine the latest national conditions of China to slowly let the socialist core Values influence students' mentality, thus improving the values and ideological and political consciousness of college students in China. The ideological and political education of college students should be set as a compulsory course for the school. When they increase their study classes, they should be internalized in the heart and externalized, improve the ideological understanding of today's college students, and further understand the connotation and spiritual essence of the socialist core values.

However, it should be noted that for colleges and universities, in the ideological and political education curriculum of college students, integrating socialist core values, we should pay attention to the innovation of ideological and political courses, change the boring teaching mode before, and put more books in the teaching process. Combining theoretical knowledge with practice, combining modern thought with traditional excellent culture, combining students' perceptual thinking with rational thinking, cultivating the initiative and enthusiasm of college students in ideological and political education, and improving in the subtle Ideological and political consciousness, the integration of personal ideals into the ideals of the entire nation, and the integration of personal development into the development of the entire country.

The teaching of ideological and political theory is very boring. In the process of teaching, teachers should actively explore and innovate the methods and methods of education. While explaining the boring theoretical knowledge, they should intersperse some historical or modern famous figures to enhance students with vivid and concrete examples. The memory, and these vivid and vivid examples can better help students understand the embodiment and application of Marxism in real life, make the teaching content more appealing, and make students feel more empathic, so that they are deep inside the students. Identify the core values of socialism. In order to improve students' interest in ideological and political education classrooms, teachers should also communicate with students in the classroom in real time, and carry out more discussion on issues to enhance students' thinking ability and understanding ability. Encourage students to use Marxist ideas to discuss social hot events, so that today's college students clearly understand that self-worth and social values should be consistent in order to use socialism in this unpredictable social environment and diverse cultural conflicts. The core values are to insist on being yourself, to recognize the nature of the problem, not to panic, to correctly distinguish between right and wrong, and ultimately to make the right choice.

4.2 Integrating socialist core values into campus culture

Under the vision of socialist core values, the ideological and political education of college students should not only be integrated into the classroom teaching, but also injected into the campus culture. For today's college students, classroom learning is only part of the usual study, and campus activities are also very rich, through the campus culture to cultivate the students' sentiment. For the ideological and political education of college students, carrying forward the core values of socialism requires the effective increase of students' extracurricular practice and volunteer activities. In practice, students are slowly feeling the inner meaning of core values, internalizing and externalizing. Improve students' ideological and political awareness.

In the construction of campus culture, integrating socialist core values, we should give full play to the role of various media such as campus radio, campus publicity column, campus LED display, classroom newspaper, school writing newspapers and periodicals, and create a good learning and publicity. To promote the good atmosphere of socialist core values, through such campus layout and atmosphere, help today's college students to better understand the connotation of socialist core values in learning and practical activities, and to experience the strong socialist core values atmosphere on campus.

4.3 Play the role of the teaching team to better achieve the words and deeds

In the process of educating students, the power of role models is endless, as is the ideological and political education of college students. The teacher's words and deeds are also a carrier of socialist core values education. When the university period is precisely the student's outlook on life, values, and world outlook, the teachers' team, as the backbone of ideological and political education, should demand themselves in strict accordance with the connotation of socialist core values during the school period, thus improving the ideological and political level of college students. Great promotion, so university teachers should enhance the study of theoretical knowledge, and use their personal experience and practical actions to give students a real role as an exemplary leader.

4.4 Enhance students' perceptions in social practice

According to Marx's theory, life is not determined by consciousness, but by practice. This also explains the importance of practice and strengthens the ideological and political education of college students. The role of practice cannot be ignored. Therefore, in the course of ideological and political education of college students, The integration of socialist core values and the strengthening of social practice are very important. Teachers in colleges and universities should also actively encourage students to participate in meaningful social practice, start from small things around, and slowly establish a socialist core values of patriotism, dedication, integrity, and friendliness.

Colleges and universities can carry out the theme class meetings such as the development of modern culture, the course of reform and development, and let students give lectures in groups. In the process of collecting materials and expressing speeches, they will deepen their understanding of China's socialist cause and correctly recognize the process of socialist development. The contradiction in China is firmly determined to follow the path of socialism with Chinese characteristics. At the same time, colleges and universities can also organize activities such as singing red song singing competitions and organizing watching red movies. These methods can enhance the enthusiasm of college students to participate in red activities. Only in these real guns can we understand the connotation of socialist core values. "There is a glimpse of the end of the paper, and I know that this matter must be carried out." Colleges and universities can also set up a volunteer service team for college students. The university teachers or counselors will lead the volunteers to experience the hardships at the grassroots level. They will go to the community nursing homes, the orphanages, the old and the young, the remote mountainous areas, etc., and continue to temper in practice. The will of college students is brave enough to take responsibility and solve problems.

5. Conclusion

"Adolescents are strong, and young people are progressing, and the country is progressing." Today's college students shoulder the heavy responsibility of revitalizing the Chinese nation and are particularly critical in the ideological and political education of college students in the perspective of socialist core values. Colleges and universities should actively explore research, improve their ideological understanding, and work hard for today's college students to establish a correct three perspectives.
