Abstract: Today, society is developing rapidly. Whether it is politics, economy, or culture, it is flourishing, and various social trends have a great impact on people. Especially for college students, college students are in the formation of ideas. Their values, outlook on life and morality are still at an immature stage. However, college students are highly susceptible to social thoughts, which is not conducive to students' formation of healthy and uplifting ideas. As the dissemination of advanced culture, colleges and universities have always stood at the forefront of spreading healthy and upward thinking, spreading socialist core values, and building a Marxist learning-oriented party organization. At the Fourth Plenary Session of the 17th Central Committee of the Communist Party of China, it was pointed out that a learning-type party organization should be built to make the leadership team at all levels a learning-oriented leadership team. Building a learning-oriented grass-roots party organization is an important part of building a learning-oriented political party in the Party Central Committee of the Communist Party of China and an important basic work for building a learning-oriented society. Building a learning-oriented grassroots party organization can enhance the cohesiveness of grassroots party organizations in colleges and universities, promote the exemplary role of grassroots party members, promote the harmonious development of colleges and universities, build a good and harmonious campus atmosphere, and promote the vigorous development of various undertakings in colleges and universities.

1. Introduction

Building a learning-based grassroots party organization is an inevitable requirement for adapting to the status quo of China's education development. It can promote the construction of higher education with Chinese characteristics, fulfill the responsibility of brainwashing education in colleges and universities, and promote the scientific development of colleges and universities and promote campus harmony and stability. This is in line with the requirements of the socialist core values.

2. The Necessity of College-based Grassroots Party Organization Construction

2.1 Improve the party building work in colleges and universities and give play to the role of the political leadership core of party organizations in colleges and universities

With the rapid development of Chinese education, the scale of colleges and universities has continued to expand, and the number of college students and teachers has grown rapidly. At present, the development of party members in colleges and universities and the construction of grassroots party organizations in colleges and universities need to be strengthened. There are still many problems. Building a learning-oriented grassroots party organization can solve these problems to a certain extent, enhance the cohesiveness of grassroots party organizations in colleges and universities, promote the exemplary role of grassroots party members, promote the harmonious development of colleges and universities, build a good harmonious campus atmosphere, and promote the various undertakings of colleges and universities. Flourishing, can improve the level of party building in colleges and universities. At present, some colleges and universities have taken many measures to build a learning-type party organization, and often do some assessment work or open meetings. The implementation of these measures has carried out corresponding innovations in party building, enriched the activities of grassroots party organizations, strengthened the learning ability of school party cadres and party members, and improved the basic quality and working ability of party members. The construction of grassroots party organizations in colleges and universities has improved the party building work in colleges and universities and gave full play to the role of the political leadership core of party organizations in colleges and universities.

2.2 Give full play to the advantages of colleges and universities and promote the construction of learning party organizations

Colleges and universities are the base of study, bringing together the most academic resources, excellent educators and scholars in China, as well as a large number of learning talents. In colleges and universities, teachers and students have a high level of comprehensive literacy and culture. They have an irreplaceable advantage in creating a learning-type grassroots party organization. The rich learning resources of colleges and universities can lead students to learn advanced thoughts and cultures, let students learn systematically, improve their political literacy and learning ability, which is conducive to scientifically improve students' scientific level in political thought. Improve the construction of grassroots party organizations in colleges and universities. The formation of the learning-type party organization of college students is also conducive to promoting the university's positive cultural spirit, learning endlessly, and innovating the way knowledge is disseminated. It can be said that colleges and universities have unique advantages and provide excellent learning resources and conditions for the creation of learning-type grassroots party organizations. This is a win-win situation, and the two complement each other.

2.3 Promote campus harmony and implement the scientific development concept

At present, China is in the period of important strategic opportunities for economic and social development, and it also faces major challenges brought about by profound changes in the economy and society. In the face of new opportunities and challenges, the vast majority of young people have a broad stage to display their talents and achieve their careers. Building a learning-based grassroots party organization is a good stage. The learning party organization is first and foremost a learning team. It must have a strong learning ability, and it is also a talent that must have the ability to learn. Such a team can pay more attention to learning, focus on innovation, and focus on advancing with the times. In the learning-type party organization, members have common values, work together for the goal of life, and can promote each other and make progress together. As the dissemination of advanced culture, colleges and universities have always stood at the forefront of spreading healthy and upward thinking, spreading socialist core values, building a Marxist learning party organization, and adhering to the scientific development concept. As the party's grassroots party organization, college party organizations directly shoulder the important responsibility and mission of uniting and leading party members and workers to complete the tasks of reform, innovation, development, production and operation. We will do a good job in grassroots party organizations, give full play to the advanced nature and exemplary role of party members, and make grassroots party organizations truly become the fighting bastion of the Chinese Communist Party in the grassroots organizations of society.

adhere to the unity of inheritance and innovation, respect the pioneering spirit of grassroots party organizations and party members, actively expand the content of learning, and constantly innovate the ideas, methods and methods of organizational learning mechanism.

4. The main measures for building a learning-oriented grassroots party organization in colleges and universities

4.1 Establish an effective operating mechanism

Establishing a sound and effective management mechanism is an important guarantee for building a learning-type party organization. Can inspire party members to study hard and restrain their behavior. Using a variety of management mechanisms to create a good learning atmosphere in the grassroots party organizations of the university, so that the organization can continue to progress and achieve effective results. For the construction of learning-type grassroots party organizations, the process of learning is the process of habit formation, and the cultivation of habits requires long-term restraint and self-discipline. In this process, a reasonable management mechanism can constrain the behavior of party members. Let party members develop the habit of learning. A good management mechanism can promote the healthy development of party organizations. Without rules and regulations, only standardized management can promote the healthy operation of learning-type grassroots party organizations.

4.2 Adhere to the combination of theory and practice

In the process of building a university-based grassroots party organization, it is necessary not only to attach importance to theoretical construction, but also to apply theory to practice, and to practice as the purpose of theoretical research. It has been proved that practice is the sole criterion for testing truth. Only through practice can we prove the correctness of party organization construction with Chinese characteristics, the correctness of socialist core values, and the correctness of socialism with Chinese characteristics. Nothing can just stay on the theory. Only the construction of the theory is just on paper, and it can't produce effective results. The grassroots party organizations in colleges and universities should combine theory with practice, let the theory guide practice, let the practice feedback to the theory, and repeatedly verify, promote and improve each other in this process.

4.3 Firmly establish innovative ideas

Innovation is an important topic in building socialism with Chinese characteristics and an indispensable part. The construction of a learning party organization in colleges and universities must firmly grasp innovation. In the process of construction, we must not only learn the existing theories, but also advance with the times and make progress together on the basis of existing knowledge. Transforming the powerful learning ability of college students into innovative ability, integrating innovation consciousness into all aspects of learning-oriented party organization construction, combining the unique advantages of colleges and universities, combining the unique advantages of colleges and universities, innovating management mechanisms, improving assessment methods, and using modernization Ways to learn and use learning as a way and motivation for school innovation.

4.4 Paying attention to the process of creation

The construction center of the learning-type grassroots party organization is to give full play to the enthusiasm and creativity of grassroots party members. Learning is a process, not a result. A learning-oriented grassroots party organization must attach importance to the creation process. For the construction of learning-type grassroots party organizations, the process of learning is the process of habit formation, and the cultivation of habits requires long-term restraint and self-discipline, so from this point on, the process of construction is particularly important. Let the grassroots party members constantly regulate themselves and constantly optimize themselves in their studies, so that they can become more passionate about learning and dare to explore. Through the study and progress of party members, the party members' ideological quality will be improved, thereby improving the institutionalization and management of party organizations.

5. Summary

In summary, as a place of dissemination of advanced culture, colleges and universities have always stood at the forefront of spreading healthy and upward thinking, spreading socialist core values, and building a Marxist learning-oriented party organization. Building a learning-oriented grass-roots party organization is an important part of building a learning-oriented political party in the Party Central Committee of the Communist Party of China and an important basic work for building a learning-oriented society. Building a learning-oriented grassroots party organization can enhance the cohesiveness of grassroots party organizations in colleges and universities, promote the exemplary role of grassroots party members, promote the harmonious development of colleges and universities, build a good and harmonious campus atmosphere, and promote the vigorous development of various undertakings in colleges and universities. The construction of grassroots party organizations in colleges and universities has improved the party building work in colleges and universities, giving full play to the role of the political leadership core of party organizations in colleges and universities. The unique advantages of colleges and universities provide excellent learning resources and conditions for the creation of learning-oriented grassroots party organizations.
