Abstract: China's construction of the community of human destiny has evolved from concept to program and from thought to action. From the essence of human existence, the process of world historical development and the consensus of the international community. The idea of "community of human destiny" is not only the core idea and practical guide of China's diplomacy, but also the intrinsic requirement and value orientation of China's external communication. The new ideas of the international relations model in the 21st century and the new thinking of the international order in the era of global governance are in line with the inherent needs of China to safeguard its national interests and integrate peacefully into the international order, promote cooperation and win-win with the concept of a community of destiny, carry out foreign aid in the image of a responsible big country, resolve diplomatic disputes based on national interests, strengthen humanities exchanges through public diplomacy, realize the Chinese dream of national great rejuvenation, promote world peace and development, etc. Both have important contributions. Building a community of human destiny is not only an important goal and concept of perfecting global governance in China at present and in the latter period, but also a transcendence of traditional Western international relations theory and has historical significance of the times.

1. Introduction

"Community of Human Destiny" is a concept of life put forward and advocated by China in the context of globalization in recent years. It is a world social entity extracted from China's in-depth consideration of the current world pattern and the objective law of human development [1]. Mankind is a natural existence and a social existence. It is connected by various social relations, integrated by various social contacts and based on various social interests [2]. Peaceful development must be upheld. Peaceful development is the inevitable choice of socialism with Chinese characteristics. We should adhere to open, cooperative and win-win development and strive for peaceful international environment [3]. Starting from the interactive relationship between China's development and world peace and development, we will coordinate the two major domestic and international situations, constantly open up new prospects for China's diplomatic work, and further consolidate China's foundation for a peaceful development path. The rising China is more active in grasping its own positioning, understanding and taking responsibility of its own big powers from the changing world trend. More importantly, it indicates that the Chinese nation, which is heading for a great rejuvenation, is concerned about the destiny and future of humanity. Promote and more consciously provide ideological resources to the international community. China's active role in the process of building a community of human destiny is the proper meaning of the title [4].

The international dissemination of the idea of the community of human destiny is a process in which China contributes to the wisdom of global governance. The idea of human destiny community is first and foremost a world outlook, reflecting China's view of the world today. Globalization has brought tremendous opportunities for the development of all countries. With the deep development of economic globalization, the high-speed operation of the international market, the optimal allocation and use of global resources, countries can share advanced science and technology in many fields [5]. Human society lives in the same "global village". Countries with different civilizations, religious beliefs, social systems and levels of development are interdependent destiny communities. China's external environment highly depends on world peace, stability and prosperity [6]. Therefore, building a community of human destiny has become a win-win goal model between China and the world, that is, the general goal of the diplomacy of big powers with Chinese characteristics. And the diplomacy of big powers with Chinese characteristics is China's act of constructing the community of human destiny. We will focus on explaining the rich connotation of the community of human destiny to the international community, and will establish a community of destiny with the outside world as a new goal of China's foreign policy [7]. Based on common nature, common interests, and common destiny, human beings continue to develop and progress as a class, forming a stable collective of people connected by a certain bond in common life, that is, a community of people. What can be done is not to minimize the differences in the world, because that approach will lead to endless conflicts. On the contrary, it is the right way to seek the same under the premise of recognizing differences. This is also the core element of building a community of human destiny and reaching the era of human civilization [8].

2. The Purpose of International Dissemination of the Community of Human Destiny

2.1. Peace and development remain the theme of the times

Unlike the Chinese characteristics emphasized by China in the past, the essence of the concept of the community of human destiny lies in emphasizing the commonality of the whole human being in its development. In a sense, it can be said that the essence of "the great change of the world economy" is "China changes the world pattern". Whether China can change the world depends not on whether its national strength can dominate the world, but on whether its values can inspire and inspire people. The consciousness of "community of human destiny" is an extremely valuable ideological inspiration that China has contributed to the world. Promoting the construction of a community of human destiny is to break the imprisonment of the Cold War mentality, break through the old frame of the zero-sum game, from the Cold War mentality to the community thinking, from zero-sum thinking to non-zero-sum thinking, so that the sun of peace, development and progress penetrates. War, poverty, backward haze. Adhere to the development strategy of combining "going out" and "bringing in", making full use of various resources, learning advanced foreign science and technology, and making the economy develop rapidly. At present, China has become an inseparable and important part of the world's destiny community.

2.2. The unstoppable trend of globalization

"Globalization has already surpassed the single field of the world economic system and the world market, realizing a worldwide observation dimension and imagination space shared by the whole world." Constructing a community of human destiny is in the fundamental interests of people all over the world and should be the common cause of people all over the world. However, today's world is still a world based on sovereign states, and safeguarding national interests remains the primary task of diplomacy. From the perspective of global governance, the level of governance covers global governance, regional governance, as well as national governance and community governance, and each level is forming a governance community. Moreover, this governance is not the next level of governance, and each layer can be relatively independent. It can also cross governance and cross-governance, showing a flat governance trend. The new balance of power to maintain the development of economic globalization is highly consistent with their respective national interests. It can be said that major disasters anywhere in the world may lead to the loss of life and property of some citizens or expatriates in the country, because their footprints and interests are spread all over the world. The whole world has objectively shown a trend of evolving toward the "global village" where the interests of all countries are blended.

As a regional community, the modern nation-state is undoubtedly a "strong" community of human society so far. When we talk about human destiny and interests, we should first talk about national interests and national interests. The inherent logic of the community of human destiny is to advocate the common values that human beings possess, and at the same time to follow the values that human beings should abide by together. Correspondingly, the Chinese government also has the ability to assume international responsibilities corresponding to the national strength with the continuous enhancement of its comprehensive national strength. Therefore, the comprehensive national strength of contemporary China can fully support the practice and development of the concept of human destiny community. That is to say, to achieve interconnection and interoperability by building "sphere of influence", while it is usually difficult to achieve interconnection and interoperability among the "spheres of influence" occupied by various countries, and they tend to beggar their neighbors. Only within the "sphere of influence" can countries provide "interconnection" security. China's development should uphold the new development concept of openness, tolerance, cooperation and win-win, strive to combine its national interests with the common interests of all countries in the world, and take into account the legitimate concerns of other countries in pursuing its own interests, and strive to expand the convergence of all common interests and enhance humanity mutual benefit. The community of human destiny reflects the trend of world historical development. It is the product of economic globalization and the inevitable result of the development of world productivity and production methods. This determines that the human destiny community cannot be a short-lived phenomenon in the development of human history, but has a very strong vitality.

3. The Concept of Human Destiny Community and the Innovative Development of Contemporary Chinese Diplomatic Strategic Thought

3.1. Advocating win-win cooperation with the concept of human destiny community

The connotation of "common interests" in the community of human destiny is to break the two traditional thinking modes. Instead, from the perspective of mutual benefit, we should distribute the values and interests created by human beings, which are neither totally self-interested nor altruistic, but a kind of reconciliation between egoism and altruism. In many fields, such as international politics, security, development and global governance, China has begun to assume more and more international responsibilities and play an increasingly important role within its capabilities. China should grasp the law of history and the trend of the times and focus on the common and long-term interests of mankind. It should not only participate in international affairs more, be a participant and builder of the international system, but also be a contributor and leader of the new world order. This new concept of China's contribution to the world can not only be supported by economic theory (especially development economics) and geopolitical theory, but also occupies a theoretical high ground and occupies a moral high ground for human development, reflecting the new era of economic globalization. Concepts show the ideal realm of human civilization.

3.2. The development trend of the community of human destiny

China can not develop without the world. Since the reform and opening up, China has become more and more integrated into economic globalization in both breadth and depth. China's rapid development over the past 40 years has benefited from reform and opening up. Many achievements have been made in promoting world peace and development, maintaining international order and stability, enhancing China's comprehensive national strength, expanding China's international influence, and enhancing China's international status. The plight of the right of speech in the international community has been constantly improved. The idea of the community of human destiny is not only an international concept of exploring lasting peace and common development based on the situation of human existence and development in China, but also an important content of the external dissemination of Chinese values. The turn of human history to the history of the world is gradually formed with the expansion of material exchanges between various nation-states as a result of the development of human social productive forces. With the development of contradictory movements of productive forces and forms of communication, human history is narrowly regional. The history of the world that is open to history is an inevitable process of historical movement.

We should actively promote the construction of the "one belt and one road", the Asian infrastructure investment bank and the Eurasian Economic Union, and contribute to the common prosperity of the world. China calls on all countries, especially the western developed countries, to make efforts to maintain world peace and development and share peace and development. The community of human destiny emphasizes the concept of the whole, the overall consciousness and the coupling and linkage. It seeks for more interests through synergistic benefits, gathers the resultant forces of development, progress and prosperity, promotes each other, interacts benignly and makes overall progress, so as to realize the development prospects of win-win, win-win and win-win. Based on the community consciousness of human destiny, this paper expounds the beautiful vision of the Chinese dream. The basic connotation of the Chinese dream is the great rejuvenation of the nation. It not only means that the Chinese nation will stand stronger and stronger in the forest of the world nation, and will make new and greater contributions to mankind. At the same time, in order to better play China's opening up to the outside world. The strength to strengthen the external relations with the world, but also to build a community of Asian destiny, Asia-Pacific destiny, China-ASEAN destiny community, China-Arab destiny community, China-Latin America destiny community. Efforts to: not only adhere to the good neighbors, neighbors, deepen the mutually beneficial cooperation and interconnection with neighboring countries, but also promote multilateral diplomacy, promote the international system and global governance reform; manage the relationship between big countries and focus on building health Stable new-type relations between major powers also strengthen solidarity and cooperation with developing countries.

4. Conclusion

This paper studies the development logic of human destiny community and China's contribution. The community of human destiny is not only a continuation of Chinese traditional political and cultural thoughts, but also a new political wisdom for global governance. Entering a new era, the Chinese communists have made it their mission to make new and greater contributions to mankind and, together with the people of all countries, to jointly create a better future for mankind. The implementation of the initiative to build a "the belt and road initiative" is precisely China's action to build a community of human destiny. On the basis of adhering to win-win cooperation, it has established various forms of partnership with many countries in the world, and on the basis of adhering to the correct value concept of righteousness and benefit, it has embarked on a path of great power diplomatic strategy with Chinese characteristics. Based on the complicated situation facing China at home and abroad, and keeping pace with the times, It is the innovation and development of contemporary Chinese diplomatic strategic thinking to carry out a series of new diplomatic ideas and methods proposed by diplomatic work with Chinese characteristics. China's realization of economic development and improvement of people's livelihood is an important manifestation of the common goal pursued by all countries and a major contribution to building a community of human destiny. The idea of human destiny community advocated by China not only takes root in neighboring countries, but also will continue to expand, allowing more and more countries to participate in it, and contributing Chinese wisdom and strength to the exploration of a better social system.
