Abstract: The important purpose of the work of the party history is to thoroughly and extensively publicize the lofty society and immortal style formed by the Chinese Communist Party and the development of socialism in our country, and deeply integrates our national spirit and the spirit of the times among the people and the masses of the people. Use this spirit as a powerful driving force for social development. The socialist core value system is the essence of the national and socialist ideology, and it is the core content of building the theoretical system of socialism with Chinese characteristics. Therefore, incorporating the party history culture into the construction of the socialist core value system can not only improve the socialist core values. The cohesiveness can also deepen the reform of the cultural system, enhance the inherent cultural consciousness and cultural self-confidence of the Chinese nation, and truly improve China's cultural soft power. The article mainly discusses the function of the party history culture in the construction of the socialist core value system, and proposes the strategy of integrating the party history and culture work into the socialist core value system.

1. The Connotation of Party History Culture

From a macroscopic point of view, the party history culture is a reflection of the overall course of the Chinese Communist Party's initial establishment until now. It is not only a valuable cultural wealth, but also created by the people during the revolutionary period and socialist construction. The history and culture of the Party includes the national spirit with patriotism as the core and the spirit of the times with reform and innovation as the core. This national spirit and the spirit of the times correspond to the material basis of culture as the carrier, and the spiritual core is the reflection of the material foundation. Of course, in the process of party building and development, it is necessary to establish a rigorous and operable system and carry out strict supervision and control, in order to better play the importance of the work of building the party's historical and cultural systems, and further advance the development of party history work. . The Chinese Communist Party gradually reflects its distinctive advancement. The culture of the party history is also a cultural construction with Chinese characteristics. The whole process of party building work has always run through the development of culture, and finally formed a forward-looking guiding ideology and developed socialist spiritual civilization. Incorporating the guiding ideology of advancing with the times is an important manifestation of the advanced nature and epoch of the party history culture. It can be seen that the construction of party history culture can provide stronger evidence for the construction of the socialist core value system.

2. The Important Function of the Party History Culture in the Construction of the Socialist Core Value System

Culture can play a role in regulating people's ideas and shaping people's behaviors. Therefore, the role of culture in the process of social development is irreplaceable. Through the sedimentation and accumulation of history, the history and culture of the Party has gradually become a new cultural tradition in the process of socialist construction. In the construction of the socialist core value system, the important functions of the party history culture are mainly reflected in the following aspects:

The research content of the party history culture is the heroic deeds and spiritual connotations in the development history of the Communist Party of China. In the process of studying the party history and propagating the party history, it proves the historical inevitability of the leadership position and core role of the Communist Party of China. It also proves The inevitability of the Chinese people to choose the path of socialist development. In different periods, the party history culture integrates specific core concepts of ideology into political behavior through specific modes of communication. It can be embodied in the way of discussing political thoughts, and can also be expressed through the promotion of various political slogans, not only in individuals. The political statement also exists in the collective political movement. All these behaviors at the political level are mainly marked by ideological behavioral orientation. It is the symbolic function of various political symbols in the party history culture that leads the ideology to be more deeply rooted in the hearts of the people, constantly enhancing the political sense of belonging of the people and the Communist Party of China.

The excellent party history culture is more acceptable to the people because it reflects real and noble objects, and once this culture is accepted by the people, it will form a strong spiritual contagion in the middle, such as The anti-Japanese war, reform and opening up, etc., the people can more deeply realize the fascinating and magnificent history created by the party leading the people. Not only the behavior of the party makes the people have a more comprehensive and deeper understanding of the Chinese Communist Party. The culture of the party history can enhance the people's recognition of the party, thus guiding more correct social values and strengthening the shaping of the moral values of the people. It is clear to distinguish between true, good, beautiful, bad and ugly in real life. It can be said that the history and culture of the party is a rich treasure house of the spirit. It is based on the great history, valuable experience, glorious tradition, fine style and profound lessons of the great party. It provides the socialist construction with a silent and silent influence on the people.

All cultures that conform to the development of society and calendar are advanced cultures. The essence of party history and culture is the pursuit of truth, goodness and beauty. Therefore, the dissemination of party history and culture is to spread truth, goodness and beauty. People will naturally feel the aesthetics from the history and culture of the party. . To a certain extent, the integration of the party history culture in the process of building the socialist core value system is a noble cultural pursuit, which reflects the positive social spirit and the expectation of the people for a better life. A benign social atmosphere must be filled with fairness, justice, democracy and freedom, mutual help and friendship, the average moral level of the people is higher, and the private space can be safely protected. Chinese society needs precisely this kind of positive, optimistic and progressive, pursuit of ideal cultural environment, and on the basis of rich life, strengthen the pursuit of lofty aesthetic life, not only realize the development of material civilization, but also promote spiritual civilization to a higher level. . Throughout the process, the party history culture shoulders the responsibility of creating this kind of living atmosphere and helping the people to achieve their ideals of life. The culture of the party history is active, healthy, lively and lively, and the people like it. Therefore, it has the conditions to play the role of constructive cultural reproduction of the party history. The party history culture also advances with the times in the new and new situations, with the mass media and cyberspace as the carrier. To build a harmonious society based on people. It can be seen that the party history culture contains enormous historical energy in cultivating the people's aesthetic consciousness and advocating social aesthetic behavior, and has important aesthetic edification function.

3. The Integration Strategy of the Party History Culture in the Construction of the Socialist Core Value System

The development history of the Communist Party of China is magnificent. Its spirit of arduous exploration and heroic deeds exude an inspiring and cohesive spirit. Therefore, decades after the reform and opening up, we must regard party history research and propaganda and education as an important carrier for building a socialist core value system. Through the organic integration of the two, we will enhance the attraction of the party history culture and enhance the people's participation in our party.

First of all, we must further study the party's historical experience and fully contribute to the great historical achievements of the party in the historical period after its establishment, fully affirm the great historical achievements of the party, and clarify the historical position of the Communist Party of China in the process of socialist construction. And reveal its core role in the construction of the socialist core value system. Decades of reform and opening up have proved the importance of the party history culture in realizing socialist modernization and holding high the great banner of socialism with Chinese characteristics, and it has provided a detailed theoretical reference for the follow-up socialist construction. Second, we must improve the accuracy and scientificity of the party history record. Emphasizing the empirical research of localization, analyzing local specific historical events, and analyzing the local social psychology development process through investigation and study, improving the persuasive power of the Communist Party to lead the revolution, building a new China, leading reform and opening up, and fully tapping the spirit of long-term accumulation of party history. The essence of culture has laid a solid foundation for the masses. Finally, promote the transformation of the research results of the party history. The advantages of the history of the party history system and the work of preserving the history are fully exerted, and the materials of the party history are pushed out of the research room, and they are presented in the form of party history readings and literary works, making the party history culture more acceptable to the people and making the party. The results of historical research directly face the majority of party members and cadres, grassroots people and young people, and become valuable resources for building a socialist core value system.

On the one hand, we must clarify the basic content of party history learning education. The basic contents of the Party history culture study and education include the development history of the Communist Party of China, the modern history of China, and the history of the Chinese revolution. For the majority of party members and cadres, the grassroots masses can include the History of the Chinese Communist Party, the Brief History of the Chinese Communist Party, and the Communist Party of China. A brief history of the new era, as a learning material, for the majority of young people, college students, you can use the "Youth Learning Chinese Communist Party History Series" as the basic reading of their study, life, from top to bottom, from old to young to guide the people more. A comprehensive understanding of the party's glorious history, great achievements, and a correct understanding of the party's glorious tradition and fine style. On the other hand, it is necessary to highlight the key objects of party history culture learning. To a certain extent, the majority of party members and cadres must be at the forefront of the development of social spiritual civilization, and are the pioneers in practicing the socialist core value system. In the construction of the socialist core value system, the majority of party members and cadres are the backbone of the force. Therefore, the focus of party history culture learning is the majority of party members and cadres. Leaders and departments at all levels should regard party members and cadres, especially young cadres, as the focus of training, in-depth study of the development history of our party, inherit the fine traditions of our party, learn from the historical lessons of the party, and firmly follow the path of building socialism with Chinese characteristics. the way. In addition, we must actively promote party history education to schools and classrooms, train the next generation to love socialism and love the feelings of the Chinese Communist Party, use red culture to influence the minds of young people, and train successors for the party and the country.

On the one hand, we must enrich the party's historical and cultural propaganda means, develop online publicity channels on the basis of the original party history report meeting, exhibitions and commemorative activities, and advance the glorious history of the party with the times; support the theme of party history. On the other hand, it is necessary to further improve the hardware construction of the history and culture. Conduct a general survey of party history sites, clarify the number of sites, strengthen protection for important sites and revolutionary martyrs memorial facilities; collect intangible cultural heritage related to party history, and use advanced scientific and technological means for development, utilization, and dissemination; fully explore red tourism resources Taking advantage of the development of the tourism industry to expand the influence of party history and culture.

4. Conclusion

In short, the study and propaganda of the party history culture is an important way to build a socialist core value system, and it is an important task for party history workers. Party history is a huge and rich treasure house of thought and spirit, and a vivid and vivid textbook. On the road of pursuing the common ideal of building socialism with Chinese characteristics, the Communist Party of China has thrown its head and sprinkled blood to create the spirit of immortality, the spirit of Yan'an, the spirit of Lei Feng, etc. These immortal spirits will become the road of socialist development. It is also an important part of the socialist core value system. Therefore, in actual work, we must work hard to improve the level of party history research, propaganda, and education, and give full play to the role of party history work in the construction of the socialist core value system.
